Control mobile devices, apps and content via an intuitive solution
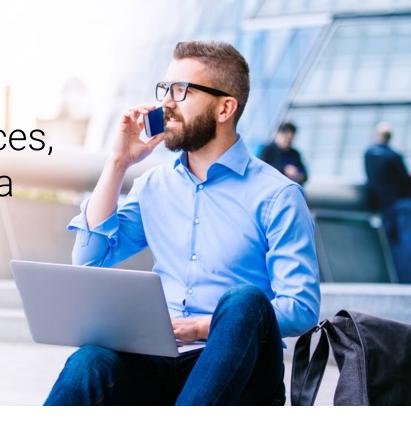

AppTec360 Unified Endpoint Management Package

With the AppTec360 Unified Endpoint Management Package, you bring order and security to your company's mobile working environment – and manage PCs and Macs at the same time.

Control all endpoints from a single platform:

Hybrid working is high on the agenda for companies and employees alike. The ability to work in or out of the office as needed, while accessing emails, documents and company apps, brings significant productivity gains.

But as beneficial and popular as flexible working is, the devices and apps that internal or external employees use are just as diverse. For IT, this poses the challenge of controlling and managing the multitude of devices. And above all, it must secure company data and guarantee the protection of personal data.

The AppTec360 Unified Endpoint Management Package provides you with all the components for efficient device, app, content and security management. The AppTec360 Unified Endpoint Manager supports the management of mobile devices as well as PCs and Macs. Control and configure all devices, applications and exchange files of your employees or business partners with the highly flexible solution, regardless of the operating system and including private devices (BYOD).

Good reasons for the AppTec360 Unified Endpoint Management Package:
